VETERANS INFORMATION

By Melvin T. Dixon
State Service Officer
Today I have a word for those of you who may be called to active service in the armed forces of our nation; it is something which I sincerely hope will contribute to your peace of mind while you are engaged in accomplishing your important mission.

Service to one's country should be regarded as a real honor, but usually, it is not until later in life that you fully appreciate the privilege which was yours.

Leaving your family is a hard job, but the facts must be faced as they really are, so make all preparation necessary to take care of your family while you are gone.

There is an organization in our state, known as the Florida Department of Veterans' Affairs. In each county there is a Veterans' Service Officer.

Who has an office at the County Seat and who is paid by the County. While you are away serving your country, this Service Officer will help your wife and child or parents. He will gladly assist them with such things as Family Allowances, when the time comes, and secure marriage certificates or birth certificates, or any other document that is needed.

This Service Officer is very familiar with the ups and downs of military life, for he served either in World War I or II. He is kind and considerate, and he knows his job. When you return to civilian life, he can be your very best friend.

In your county, your Service Officer is located in the County Court House, or in a building nearby. Tell your folks about him.

If you should receive an injury, or contract some disease while in the service, keep a record of the dates and places where you were treated, and make a note of the names and addresses of your comrades, as you may need them in filing your application for compensation.

One thing more—caution your family, relatives or friends to save all letters and communications from you which may contain information valuable in establishing a claim for disability.

Service Officers often find that "certain information about symptoms and treatment which clearly identify disabilities" is frequently contained in a letter written home.

Remember this—you and your family have a friend in the Florida Department of Veterans' Affairs and your County Veterans' Service Officer.

May good fortune smile upon you.

While I have resided in communities having a large Latin speaking population most of my life and daily come in contact with Spanish speaking people, I have never learned to speak the language myself.

I have always realized how helpful it would be and, like a lot of other things I have put off to do, have put off learning Spanish because I just never seemed to have the time to study and learn.

Not long ago it fell my lot to help operate a distinguished group from the Republic of Colombia which was touring this state. Only one or two of the group could speak English and it was necessary to express myself through an interpreter. It was quite embarrassing and made me realize how dumb I really was.

A short time later I learned of an entirely new and different method of learning Spanish devised by three Tampans, Oscar Cuesta, Jose Valdez and Oscar Cuesta, Jr. This system did not call for the difficult task of learning Spanish grammar.

The complete course is published in a single volume entitled "How Do You Say It In Spanish." Securing a copy I began to study and was amazed at the ease with which I was able to grasp the subject.

I was surprised to learn in the first lesson that in Spanish the vowels are always pronounced the same, they never change, and once you have learned to correctly pronounce these Spanish vowels you can depend on it your pronunciation will always be correct and you will always be understood.

This is a decided advantage over the English language for we have numerous pronunciations of our vowels. Take the letter "A" for example. In the English words "ART, AGE and RAT," you find three different pronunciations applied to the letter "A."

In Spanish wherever you find the letter "A" it is always pronounced the same as in the English word "set." The letter "I" as in the English word "ink." The "O" as in the word "ought" and the "U" as in the word "soon."

One of my closest Spanish friends in Tampa is Manuel Beiro, proprietor of the Valencia Gardens Spanish Restaurant. For years I had been pronouncing his name wrong, giving the "A" the same sound as in the English word "Man" and the "U" as in the English word "Use."

Now, try saying "Manuel" giving the "A" the same sound as in the word "Art" and the "U" the same sound as in the word "Soon." See how different it is!

Perhaps you have wondered why the name Ybor City is pronounced Ebor. That is because the letter "Y" in Spanish is always pronounced "E" and when visiting in Tampa you have no doubt encountered signs reading "Garcia Y Vega" or "Fernandez Y Vega." In this case you pronounce the letter "Y" as "E," in English; in the use between names like this it has the same meaning as the word "And" in English. Instead of saying "Garcia and Vega" you say "Garcia E Vega" and you will be speaking correct Spanish and be fully understood.

In Spanish the letter "J" is given the sound of the English letter "H" and that is why we pronounce, the Spanish name "Jose" as "Hose" giving the Spanish vowel "E" the same sound that is given in the English word "Set."

Whenever you find an English word ending in "tion" like "Revolution" or "Circulation" you substitute "Cion" when you pronounce it in Spanish and you have "Revolucion" or "Circulacion"—it is as simple as that.

English words ending in "ical" like "Historical" or "Logical" can be translated in Spanish by changing the "ical" to "ico." Thus "Historical" in English becomes "Historico" in Spanish.

Believing that a lot of other folks, like myself, would welcome an opportunity to learn Spanish if they could do so without troubling themselves with grammar, I have tried to give you some idea of this new, interesting form of instruction.

that is easy to understand and fascinating to the sincere student. "How Do You Say It In Spanish" is available in book stores or can be secured from Oscar Cuesta, 1310 Tenth Avenue, Tampa, Florida.

UNDERSTANDING OF SOIL NECESSARY TO FARMERS

Florida farmers are being told that proper understanding of the problems of soil management are necessary to insure profitable crop production.

The University of Florida faculty members, Dr. F. B. Smith, Department of Soils Head, and J. R. Anderson, agronomist, report that 260 soil types have been mapped in Florida to date and that different soils present different problems of management.

As co-authors of the latest issue of Economic Leaflets, a monthly publication of the University's Bureau of Economics and Business Research, Smith and Henderson in their article arrange a convenient grouping of Florida soils in "associations of types" according to certain important characteristics.

They say these characteristics indicate in many respects similar treatment is required. The authors also point out the soil deficiencies and outline in a general way management practices most likely to give economic crop production.

However, they are also careful to point out that it is "important to keep always in mind that soils differ in their characteristics and adaptations and will therefore require varying management practices," which space limitations of the Leaflets do not allow them to explain in detail.

In the Leaflets, which are sent free to residents of Florida on request, the guest authorities also show a map of Florida which is divided into eight regions or areas. These areas show groups of soils and lands which have many characteristics in common and are separated on the basis of major soil types occurring in the region.

They also explain characteristics of each region as to soil types in limited detail. The authors note that the first soil survey in Florida was made in 1903, yet only 27 counties and four areas have been mapped in detail to date.

However, the report on these earlier surveys, together with the reconnaissance surveys of the remainder of the state made in the mid-1930's is useful in picturing the soil resources of the state.

They also report modern detailed soil surveys have been completed for Alachua, Collier, Duval, Manatee, Hillsborough, and parts of some counties which comprise the Everglades Drainage District.

And, while over 260 soil types have been mapped to date, they say "undoubtedly many more types will be recognized before the soil survey of the state is completed."

SHRINE DAY SET FOR JAN. 19 AT ST. PETE

Shrine Day at the Festival of States in St. Petersburg has been set for Friday, January 19, which is also the day of the 19th Festival of States Parade. All uniform bodies of Egypt Temple will participate including the band, drum corps, drill team and chanters. The fun will be fast and furious all day long and a cordial invitation is extended to Nobles from other temples who may be in Florida at the time to don their fezz and join in the festivities. Another outstanding feature of Shrine Day will be the All Star Shrine Minstrels, a whole of a show that will be staged that evening at Lang Field. It is an all-Shrine affair with Egypt Temple's crack band providing the music, and a well trained group of talented entertainers will stage an old fashioned minstrel show that no one will want to miss. Dates for the 1951 Festival of States are January 13 to 20.

If there is no "Crusade for Freedom" committee in your town, assume leadership. Write Harold Cole, State Director, Jacksonville, secure a supply of scrolls and sign up friends and neighbors now.

The diamond-back rattlesnake is the largest poisonous snake in the United States, reaching a length of about 8 feet. Its inch long fangs, large amount of venom, and aggressive disposition, render it one of the world's most dangerous snakes. It feeds mainly upon rabbits and rats, killing with a lightning-like strike. A six-footer can strike a distance of 4 feet outward, or 20 inches high. Gives birth to living young, usually 7 to 12 at a time. The young grow rapidly, and gain from 3 to 5 "rattles" each year. The venom of the diamond-back rattlesnake is used in the production of Antivenin. Much canned rattlesnake meat is eaten in the United States.

and forth to work at her studio in an automobile of the 1925 vintage... And that's not for publicity. Anna Maria Albert, 44, fourteen-year-old Italian concert singer, is slated to make her film bow in Bing Crosby's new movie, "Here Comes The Groom." The picture also headlines Jane Wyman and Franchot Tone. Anna should change her last name to something easier to pronounce. Something like Miss SPAGHETTI. From trans-Atlantic cables comes the report that Marlene Dietrich has resumed her friendship with British actor Michael Wilding. The lady, noted for her gams, is making a movie on London sound stages. Bob Hope, currently starring in technicolor "Fanny Pants" (Crosby), have left off feuding for home defense work. Both boys are enthusiastic in this work. See you at the movies... Mal.

Everyone has a bit of the gypsy in them and just a little bit of the adventurer, too. Treasure hunting is certainly a part of this adventurous spirit and there's no place like Florida to fulfill this urge to hunt buried treasure. With every incoming tide the sea coughs up thousands of treasures of nature, shells of beautiful variety.

If you will use your ingenuity a little bit, you will find innumerable ways to press these products of the sea into decorative and useful service. Most useful are the large coye shells with their fluted edges and gentle, varied colors. Cockle shells are just as durable and efficient in baking dishes that are "store bought" and they result in compliment-catching table settings. Before using these shells for cooking purposes they should be scrubbed out and boiled for twenty minutes in strong soda water to sterilize them. Then they are ready to butter, fill with sea-food casserole mixtures, and can be served right from the oven to the table piping hot. These containers make beautiful serving dishes for salads and desserts, too. Colorful congealed salads and aspics come out in lovely molds or can be served right in the shells. Use the shells throughout the house as a background for tropical flower arrangements, and at cocktail parties where your sea "treasures" will serve in any number of ways. For popcorn, potato chips or nuts, the cockle shells are especially welcome.

South Bay Elementary School

By H. L. Jernamott
Name Chosen For New School At South Bay
Mrs. Louise Berry of South Bay, Florida was the recipient of a prize given by the Chamber of Commerce of South Bay, Florida for having sent in the winning name, Rosewald, for the new school now going up at South Bay, Florida.

The name Rosewald was chosen from a large number of names submitted by the parents and friends because it pays homage to a great benefactor of all the people.

Among his many benefactions is the creation of a 30 people. Negroes are one-tenth million dollar Julius Rosewald fund for the well being of mankind. He made substantial gifts for the building of Negro schools. In addition to the Rosewald Fund he has given more than 15 million dollars for educational, civic and charitable purposes.

Since 1910 Mr. Rosewald has been interested in the betterment of the American Negro. As trustee of Tuskegee Institute, he was in sympathetic touch with Booker T. Washington, whose plans he aided, but by gifts to Tuskegee, then by a program of cooperation in the building of rural public schools. And from Mr. Rosewald has made possible the erection of sixteen Y. M. C. A. buildings and two Y. W. C. A. buildings for Negroes. In 1927 Mr. Rosewald said, "I am interested in the Negro people because I am also interested in white people. Negroes are one-tenth of our population. If we promote better citizenship among the Negroes not only are we improved but our entire citizenship is improved."

Mrs. Annie Mae Everett

The lesson Sunday was the Stewardship of the Gospel. 11:00 a. m. a spiritual devotion conducted by Sis Julia Holland and Sis Lillie Miller. The morning scripture was read by the pastor. The covenant scripture was read from Numbers 22:17-33 by the pastor. 6:00 p. m. the B. Y. P. U. was carried out by the president and group captains. 7:30 devotion conducted by Dea. Will House. The evening scripture was read from Numbers 22:17-33 by the pastor. He delivered a short but stirring message, "The Master said, 'Peace I leave unto you; My peace I give unto you; not as the world gives, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.' "Behold, I am with you always."

We enjoyed having Mrs. Norville, Mrs. Dortha Graham and Mr. L. J. Curry to worship with us in our morning service. Visitors are always welcome to worship with us.

Bean City News

Mattie Jean Youngblood

The Bean City school has reached the enrollment of sixty pupils. The attendance is equally high. We are thankful for far-sighted parents and the cooperation they are giving Mr. Denison in his new work.

Mrs. Lee had a house guests at her home in Miami, attending the classic law week. Mrs. Lorraine Albary of Nassau and Miami. Mrs. Scottie Genette, Coach Abbott and Coach Harvey of Tuskegee Institute, Alabama who were officiating over the Orange Blossom Classic. The group were also entertained at Hotel Mary Elizabeth, where other Tuskegeesians joined them in a reunion of former "Tuskegeesians." They parted wishing the class a speedy return.

Sunday was a "Great day of service for the Master at Bean City." The Rev. Kennedy conducted the regular services. Conference was held at the close of the morning services that more cooperation may be had in the church work.

The Christmas play entitled, "The Sleeping Santa Claus" will be conducted on Thursday night. Each pupil is included in the exercises. The robed Junior Choir will sing Christmas carols. There will also be a candle light service in connection with the choir. The primary department are having a "Christmas Wedding" at the close of the carols by the choir. The play follows, and then the Christmas tree in charge of Santa and his helpers. Thanks to the parents and friends who helped with costumes and other items of importance during our period of preparation for our exercises. Also thanks to our donors for gifts for our program. We hope each of you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Our Junior Red Cross girls will go to the local hospitals this year. We are making favors and carol booklets for the shut-ins.

School will be closed from December 15, 1950 until January 2, 1951. We encourage the students to catch up with library reading while at home. A "Book Review" period will be called when we return that credit can be given those pupils who have read books while on vacation.

The Holmes Group holds prayer-meeting each Friday evening. You are welcome to attend. Sister Janie Green is in charge. The Elder is expected soon.

Buy the Belle Glade Herald every Friday. It is full of interesting news.

A CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

Peace On Earth—Good Will To Men
Mr. Ora D. Lee
Prin. Bean City School
A Christmas Message
Each year we hear the same refrain—Peace On Earth—Good Will To Men. I wonder how many people have realized just what those words mean? Or do they have real meaning to you? Or are they just a group of words which have no meaning other than a reference to the birth of Christ many years ago?

Suppose all races of man could and would understand the deep and true meaning of the "Natal words." Suppose all mankind could and would say "Peace On Earth—Good Will To Men and mean it from the depths of their hearts," then there would be no need for war, fear, doubt, hatred, misunderstanding, misgiving, and atomic secrets. Instead, there would be developed in the world a love that would envelop the globe, as the waters that fill the seas. Faithful forever, would be the world's motto. The flag for the world would be white for purity; a shining star emblazoned on the white for the "Babe of Bethlehem"; a cross of red for the Remembrance of Calvary, and the "Peace on Earth—Good Will to Men," that "Might be" bring. Did He not say, "My Peace I Give Unto You?" Why then are we so hard-hearted in accepting His peace which He so freely gave unto us?

This Peace must first begin in our own hearts. We must be at Peace with ourselves; at Peace with our fellow-men; at Peace with the stranger within our gates; at Peace with our brothers across the seas.

I conclude with the words of the greatest Peacemaker the world has ever known—Jesus, "Peace I leave unto you; My peace I give unto you; not as the world gives, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid." "Behold, I am with you always."

First Grade A News

The pupils of First grade are eagerly awaiting a visit from Santa. They have been singing Christmas Carols, making Santa Clausen, and coloring bells and Christmas trees. This week we are having fun helping decorate our Christmas tree. On Friday, the Elementary Department is presenting a Christmas program with several members from the First Grade participating.

N. H. A. News

The N. H. A. girls of Everglades Vocational High School

circled around their beautiful Christmas tree, Tuesday night, December 12, singing Christmas Carols and giving prizes to the Almighty. Gifts were exchanged and refreshments were served by our club Mother, Mrs. Amelia Houston and our advisor, Mrs. L. W. Childs. After the Christmas party, the girls went to several homes in the community and sang Christmas Carols. After having had such an enjoyable time, the girls bade each other good night, as they went to their various homes.

N. F. A. News

The officers and members of the Belle Glade N. F. A. chapter rendered a program for the Everglades Vocational High School on Thursday night, December 7. The program began with a song by the audience. Scripture lesson and prayer was conducted by Willie J. Hollis, after which the officers followed with the N. F. A. opening ceremony. The N. F. A. chapter was presided over by J. Hollis, the president of the chapter. After the various numbers were rendered on the program, closing remarks were made by Mr. J. J. Holliday, the local advisor.

The chapter has completed one of its major projects for this year: A vegetable garden for the school lunch program. Plans are being made to break up the land, east of the camp for the land laboratory plot. During the last chapter meeting, Mr. Holliday stated that a special demonstration will be started immediately after Continued on Page 10

DEMONSTRATION CLUB HAS CHRISTMAS PARTY
The South Bay Home Demonstration Club held their regular program and annual Christmas Party at the school cafeteria Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Mildred Michaud, assistant home demonstration agent, was in charge of the discussion and demonstration in place of Mrs. Sara Horton who is recuperating from a recent major operation.

She presented a demonstration on how to make giant decorative candles for mantle or center pieces and also gave a number of other interesting ideas for holiday decorations.

Twelve members and thirteen guests and the 4-H club were in attendance and participated in the exchange of gifts.

$10.00 was donated to the Christmas tree fund for the school children.

The 4-H Club were the guests of the Senior Club and also enjoyed an exchange of gifts at the same time that the Home Demonstration club members and their guests were enjoying their exchange of gifts.

They contributed two songs to the Yule program, "Silent Night" and "4-H Light." Laura Mae Haulcomb, 4-H president, thanked the Senior Club for their cooperation with the 4-H program of activities and for inviting them to join in the Christmas party.

The table was centered with a Christmas tree and decorated with pine boughs.

Mrs. Fred Cator, Mrs. Laura Willis and Mrs. H. C. Willis were hostesses and served gingerbread with whipped cream, coffee and punch to Mrs. I. P. Roberts, Mrs. Verda Higginbotham, Mrs. I. M. LIONS CLUB HAS FINAL
YEARS DINNER MEETING

The South Bay Lions Club will have their final dinner meeting of the year Thursday evening at the school cafeteria.

At the session last week the chief topic for discussion was the Everglades Blood Bank and how they could cooperate to help make it a success.

Mrs. C. B. Higginbotham, Mrs. W. G. Bowen and Mrs. E. M. Willis served the dinner to President Sam Henderson, Secretary-Treasurer W. M. Jeffries, R. C. White, Cleo Higginbotham, R. G. Fisher, Eric Hartline, Mead Willis, Frank Willis, Clayton Waters.

PTA PLANS PART IN CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

The South Bay Parent Teacher Association planned their part in the annual Christmas school program at their regular session Monday evening.

Mrs. J. A. Henderson presiding. It was decided not to make a house to house canvass for funds to purchase the treat for the children but to ask the various community and civic organizations for donations to the fund and to make up the deficit from the general P. T. A. Fund.

A donation from County Commissioner Paul Ransom was accepted and added to the general fund for advertising. It was decided to purchase an insect spray for the school and a small electric washing machine for the cafeteria.

Terry L. Driggers was appointed to secure and set up the Christmas tree on the school lawn. Mrs. Verda Higginbotham, Mrs. Jay Smith, Mrs. Laura Willis were appointed on the decorating committee. Mead Willis, C. E. Crickfield, Mrs. O. E. Miller and Mrs. C. B. Higginbotham were appointed a committee to contact the home demonstration club and other organized groups for donations to the treat fund.

The program this year will be held on the evening of February 15 on the school lawn and consist of Christmas Carols sung by the school children around the Christmas tree. The treat of candy, nuts and fruit will be presented at the close of the program, followed by the dismissal of school for the holidays. School will reconvene on January 2, 1951.

The room price for attendance went to the eighth grade home room taught by Principal Calvin J. Peacock.

Mrs. Lessie Martin, chairman announced that the Florida Education Association was putting out an auto tag this year with the slogan, "Better Schools Make Better Communities." Anyone desiring to get the tag of Mrs. Sara Horton who is recuperating from a recent major operation.

It was announced that the room parties and exchange of gifts among members will take place Friday afternoon in each of the various home rooms of the school.

The program consisted of a movie put out by Sinclair entitled, "The Miracle of Paradise Valley" and dealt with safety measures on the farm.

Mrs. C. J. Peacock, Mrs. I. Davis, Mrs. I. P. Roberts and Mrs. Floyd Wilder were hostesses and served cake and coffee to the approximately 40 members in attendance.

IN FLORIDA... SOUTHERN BELL HAS BUILT

of new Telephone Plant in the Past 5 Years

The size of this plant is state wide. You'll find it in every Florida city and town served by Southern Bell and along the roads and highways. Yes, since the end of World War II, we've built $100,000,000 of new telephone facilities in Florida. That's far more money than we had invested in Florida 5 years ago.

How big an accomplishment that is and how much it means to Floridians is apparent when you consider that during these five short years we have increased the number of telephones by as many as we had in service in 1945, after the first 64 years of the Company's history. In other words, it has meant that in 5 years:

TELEPHONES have nearly doubled, going from 224,000 to 432,000.

RURAL TELEPHONES more than tripled... from 16,200 to 59,000.

LONG DISTANCE CIRCUITS increased from 1,442 to 1,994.

SERVICE... clearer, faster and more dependable.

As big as this five years' job has been, the end is not yet in sight. To meet the unprecedented demand for telephone service in town and on the farm, we must go on building, contributing our full share to the progress and prosperity of Florida. That makes it important to have a financially healthy telephone company.
